Description

- Rare 17th century interpretation of a Gothic cupboard - Probably made for family living space due to unusual, small proportions with narrow size and height or made to store expensive, luxury, items - Lovely color and patina

Top in two sections with a solid moulded edge. The front with an upper cupboard with door with linenfold panel and a linenfold panel either side. The lower cupboard below with a large door with linenfold panel and a long linenfold panel either side. The sides with a pair of shorter linenfold panels above a longer pair. Old iron brace on right stile foot. Original back in three sections

Reference : The linenfold panels are a style dating from 1460 found on the stalles de Gerberoy, Oise

Measures: Length 102cm, Depth 54cm, Height 106cm.
