Description

Lovely, characterful example of a good late-17th century oak chest of drawers with an exceptional lustrous and rich colour and patina.

The cushion moulded drawer fronts elevate this chest which has characteristic panelled sides, brasses and bun feet.

It is an exceptional example of early English vernacular furniture

The 2cm thick, plank top in two pieces with a solid moulded edge. The drawers with cushion mouldings and replaced brasses and escutcheons. The sides panelled. On quirky bun feet.
